I like vinyls, music, films, and vintage things. So, my idea is a combination of all of them at a one shop. Of course, it will only be the application and the website for the customers. And also on website, customers will be able to listen vinyls.

- Desktop Application:
 - It is going to be more for the owner of the shop. What I mean by that is, it will be a desktop application to add new items into the system, listing new sales, assigning new employees, adding new vinyls to system etc.
 - As I think, there will be an admin login which you can see statistics about sales and other features.
- Web Application:
 - Web application is more likely for the customers. They will be able to login to the system.
 - Then they will be able to play selected song by vinyls through the database.
 - They will be able to add items to their baskets etc.
- Database:
 - Vinyls(Albums) will be stored in the database.
 - Users credentials will be stored in the database.
 - User baskets will be stored in the database.
